TO THIS FUTURE HOSPITAL will go the entire proceeds of the Salinas-San Jose State Frosh football game scheduled to take place in the Lettuce Bowl, September 26. Students at S. J. C. are doing their parts by purchasing game tickets from one of the four instructors teams here or from President Werner's one-man team. ACROSS the Editor's Desk

By MAC

There they go—those first two weeks of college that are supposed to be the hardest-to-hurdle for the Freshmen. And yet, even in our most Sophomoric moments of reticence, we cannot truthfully admit that these very neophytes did not show themselves to be masters of ease and assurance when it came to making the jump. But Freshman groups of today ARE different . . . perhaps it is because of the present state of affairs which has taken at least one hey out of the hey-hy spirit so characteristic of college life as it was in the not-too-distant past. Perhaps it is for this reason that the student who enrolls in college today is not like his brother of a short while back—that he is more serious, more vitally interested in what goes on around him, more downright appreciative of what is being offered him that is not being offered to someone else less fortunate than himself. Whatever it is, though, this new Joe Freshman knows all about it . . . and understands it, too.

INTERMEZZO

Our good friend Herb Caen would love this story that stumbled across the editor's desk last week. It, happily enough, concerns a British fledgling reporter who had been reprimanded for his overlong accounts and told to be brief. His next story was turned in as follows:

"A shocking incident occurred last night. Sir Reggy Blank, a guest at Lady Briny's ball, complained of feeling ill, took his hat, his coat, his departure, no notice of his friends, a taxi, a pistol from his pocket, and, finally, his life. Nice chap. Regrets and all that."

WITH FINGERS CROSSED

It is our sincerest hope that you will find this issue of the Battery all that you would normally expect from a college publication, for that is your right. Since our group of readers is naturally quite new, we do not as yet know which of the paper's features it would like to see more of, or which it would prefer to have minimized. But suggestions are as welcome as rain in April.

Hard luck in one form struck the small staff this week when it was discovered that several of last year's stars would not be on hand to help during the current season. Old students will miss the classic columning of Miss Dawn Overhulse (dawn but not forgotten) who is not attending S.J.C. this semester, and it is hoped that Assistant Editor Johnny Buckley will be back in circulation come next issue. Good luck was ours in the form of a very capable first-year reportorial crew whose talents should easily make up for any aforementioned deficiencies. Give them time, and from all indications they should be turning out some ve-ry mellow editions.

PEAVY TURNS AUTHOR IN PARENTS' MAGAZINE

In support of the old theory that wisdom is increased by experience and age, "Bringing up Boys," an article written by Mr. G. Darwin Peavy, Salinas Junior College physical education instructor, recently appeared in the August edition of Parents' Magazine.

An old hand at instructing young offspring of the do's and don'ts of a normal life because of his own home and his summer connection with the Salinas Recreation department, Mr. Peavy believes a child best appreciates his home if made to feel that he is an important part of it. Mr. Peavy refers to it as a "sense of proprietorship."

The cultivation of homecoming habits is also of importance. In relation to this subject, Mr. Peavy gave an amusing explanation:

"We know that either of our boys is likely to leave a pleasant game any time and come tearing in to dash through the house at a breakneck pace for no apparent reason other than to shout 'hello,' then return to his play."

Peavy feels that a child's emotions shouldn't always be leashed and that "children must be allowed to be heard sometimes or they're likely to be heard disastrously on embarrassing occasions."

For children, pets are a necessary requirement, a complete physical education program should be outlined and tools and building materials provided for those who wish to show their constructive genius.

Later they should be allowed mechanical experience through the acquisition of bicycles and cameras and by all means a child's tastes in clothes should be heeded.

The article was concluded with points on spiritual needs as well as the necessity for good sportsmanship.

This is not the first literary attempt of the diminutive physical education instructor who remarked that he has "three or four irons in the fire," and is awaiting the appearance of the next.

Work Has Begun On '42 La Reata

Sidney Peterman and Pat Adcock, co-editors of the 1942 La Reata, disclosed this week that plans have already been drawn up for several of the varied features expected to make up the coming yearbook. With the co-operation of art students Eldon Dedini and Cecil Newkirk, the editors are now at work on the selection of a theme for the annual, which will probably be expressed primarily through the cover and division pages. Layout is also a definite consideration of the staff at this point, while the bulk of the writing is being done by members of Editorial Techniques class under the direction of Mr. B. L. Borough. Since much of the photography and writing-up of events cannot be done until late in the college year, the staff is making the most of its present opportunities in order to avoid excessive last-minute rush.

Departments

Aviation

The aviation course, Civilian Pilot Training, will be given this year at the Junior College as usual with ground work at the college, and flying instruction at the airport. In order to be a member of this class the applicant must be between the ages of nineteen and twenty-six, pass the C.A.A. physical requirements and have sophomore standing. So far, ten students have been signed up to take the course this fall.

Music

The marching band urgently needs more members right now, especially trumpets and baritone. Mr. Lorell McCann's prospects are the brightest they have been for many years, and if the required cooperation is received from student musicians, the band should be one of the finest in the history of Salinas Junior College.

A notice has been posted on the bulletin board listing available instruments, and anyone with a reasonable amount of experience is welcome to join the band. It is not necessary to be a master—the reason students are here is to learn and improve. The music department has great plans for the band this year, and the wise student will get in on the ground floor.

Commerce

Not only operating as one of the largest tin can concerns in the United States but also as the source of the Canco Speaking Service, the American Can Company is offering an important educational opportunity to Salinas Junior College students through their representative, Mr. Carlton F. Sturdy, who will speak at the Little Theatre Commerce Assembly on Tuesday, September 16, between 11 and 12 a. m.

Noted for his speeches before service organizations and school assemblies, Mr. Sturdy will speak on the topic, "It's Your Dollar," which promises to be one of interest to all students of commerce, public speaking and home economics as well as to consumers.

The college commerce department invites all students who are free at assembly time to attend.

Photography

Students interested in photography, and especially in taking pictures for Battery and publicity departments, are requested to see Mr. McCallum as soon as possible. Class meets Monday, period 6, with lab (dark room) periods arranged to suit the convenience of the student.

Ticket Sales Enjoy Boom

As Fans Await Hall-Winter Game

There are many factors which combine to make the Salinas J.C. San Jose State Frosh grid-krieg two weeks from tonight potentially the most sensational of such battles ever to be recorded in the history of the college.

First, and most eagerly anticipated by all, will be the encounter of the two teams—that of Bud Winter from San Jose, and the other—more recently graduated into the "A" division of California Junior College Conference teams—under the maroon and gold banner now waved by Coach "Tiny" Hall.

Second, there will be probably the largest aggregation of spectators so far to assemble in the Lettuce Bowl, due to the co-operation of many downtown business houses in the selling of tickets, and to the assistance given by Salinas Valley towns in boosting the game through posters and other forms of publicity.

Third, and unprecedented, Salinas Junior College will donate full proceeds of the game to the Salinas Valley Community Hospital association, to aid in the building of a community hospital designed to serve the entire valley region. Such a building will fill a need long felt by many residents of this area, who up to now have considered present hospitalization facilities insufficient.

Other attractions—none the less unusual and exciting—will be provided by an all-new band and majorette corps, a rooting section led by three new cheer leaders, and new and varied stunts planned by the rally committee.

Having agreed to sell 1,000 tickets each, the teams of Dr. Hall, Mr. Lemos, Mrs. Baxter, and Mr. Bengston are doing their utmost to outshine the one-man efforts of President Werner, who is selling an equal number. As usual, prices were set at fifty cents for twosome, 25 cents for outside students and soldiers in uniform, and, on this one occasion, 25 cents for Salinas Junior College students. Tickets may be purchased all next week from instructors or from any of the following local merchants: Penney's, Wickenden's, Hank's Drugs, Al Price's, Stoffey and Rochex, Holaday's Pharmacy, Bertha Day, and Phillips' Grocery.

Credit must be awarded to students of Mr. Amyx' commercial art class who designed and executed dozens of posters for the affair, and to the college publicity department, which has been sending out numerous special releases.

Salinas Junior College may feel doubly fortunate that the game could be arranged for home play, thus facilitating attendance for many Salinans as well as for jayseers who might otherwise be unable to watch play-by-play this epoch-maker of the season.

With fingers crossed, college heads hope for no inclement weather to detract from the full success of the enterprise.

Coming-Home Games

Following the San Jose tilt-dex for two successive weeks will be other home games, first with Stockton Junior College, then with Sacramento J. C., the latter to be followed by an excursion to San Mateo on October 18. Returning home for a one-night stop to play Modesto Junior College October 24, the Panthers will trek northward again, this time to war with San Francisco J. C. Last home game scheduled will be played on Armistice Day, and will witness for the second time a clash between S. J. C. gridsters and the Nevada University Frosh. Still tentative are plans for a later game between Salinas and a Colorado Junior college.

'Be Proud of the Maroon and Gold'—McAdams

"On behalf of the associated students of the Salinas Junior college, it gives me great pleasure to welcome the freshman class of 1941," stated Grant McAdams, S. J. C. Student Body president at the recent freshman meeting on August 29, "for this class shows promise of being one of the finest to enter the gates of the college."

McAdams went on to say that he feels sure that by keeping a few customs and traditions in mind, this college will become increasingly great. "We must call upon one another for cooperation, earnest enthusiasm and,

PRESIDENT R. J. WERNER must put the most you have into it."

The words are those of President Richard J. Werner of Salinas Junior College, who for the sixth time annually, is welcoming into this institution a new group of students, but for the first time without the usual words of welcome, "because," he explains, "I feel that after a short time all the students will know that we are glad they're here."

Continuing, Mr. Werner states, "We would like to help you make your college time enjoyable as well as beneficial, and therefore we want you to get the best from your work here, to make your every promotion count as a promotion in life... we'll try to make your work here pleasant, profitable, and hard!"

As usual, Mr. Werner emphasizes the fact that his office door is always open to students of the college, and that they are free to walk in whenever they feel the need of help in solving a problem or dissolving other difficulties.

higher education.

Dr. Case goes on to say, in welcoming new J. C. students:

"My most sincere and heartiest greetings go out to the students who are enrolled in Salinas Junior College for the year which has just begun. I join with the president and faculty of this school in offering to you any assistance that we can give that will make the ensuing year more profitable and more pleasant for you."

"I congratulate you for the spirit you have shown by complying with the suggestions of the leaders of the country, including the President and the United States Commissioner of Education, by enrolling in college and not accepting a position where wages might be attractive. Your usefulness to your country will be greatly enhanced by your attendance in college this year. When and if you are called to more active service for your country you will be more capable by virtue of this year in Salinas Junior College. For you have at your disposal the facilities of a junior college which has a background and record that will convince you that your choice of school is a wise one."

"May your experiences and successes this year exceed even your highest hopes."

SIX NEW INSTRUCTORS JOIN S. J. C. FACULTY

With the increased variety of curricula, it has become necessary to add new instructors to the faculty of S. J. C. Newcomers to the college are Mr. Anselmo and Mr. Bullis, engineering department; Mr. Hall men's physical education department; Mr. Heinsen, science department; Miss Handley, women's physical education department, and Mr. Reich, commercial department.

A graduate of U. C., where he received his M.A., Mr. Vincent Anselmo has been teaching for the last four years, and has had working experience as a civil and mechanical engineer. In an interview, Mr. Anselmo stated: "I think that the college buildings, in particular the Engineer-

Mr. William Bullis, a graduate of Oregon State, where he received his M.S., has had extensive teaching experience at Salem High School in Oregon. Mr. Bullis, whose avocations are radio and photography, commented on the fine condition in which the school has been maintained.

Coach "Tiny" Hall joins the men's physical education department after two years' coaching at Salinas high. Coach Hall graduated from the University of Oregon, where he received his B. S. in 1932. He has started his thesis and hopes to obtain his M. S. degree soon. Mr. Hall mentioned that he went to high school at Hollister and is very proud of it. He stated that S.J.C. offers him the very finest equipment, and that he hopes to have as good boys to use it.

MAJORETTES

'Largest Corps' Open Season in Monterey

With 60 girls to uphold the laurels of the largest organization of its kind, the Salinas Junior College drum majorette corps will again high light the S. J. C. fall football games.

Mr. Marsden Sherman, majorette advisor, announced that this year the girls will be drilled for fast twirling batons, and a complete drill team will be formed. Swiss Flag waving, Scotch drums and the silver bugles will be exhibited as of last year.

The corps will drill in white pleated skirts, gold military blouses and maroon and gold hats with white tasseled boots. Later in the season the white skirts may possibly be reversed to maroon.

Participation will be taken in all home games besides the opening appearance at the Martinez Alumni game in Monterey September 19.

S. B. Meeting, Freshman Dance Both Successful

With few business transactions, last Friday's student body meeting acted essentially as a "melling pot" for varying Freshmen and Sophomore personalities and offered a sample of what to expect at future gatherings.

Ceded the important spot on the program was the election of yell leaders for the coming athletic year. Prior to the meeting, Jim Shelton and John Buckley had announced their intentions of competing for the sophomore-held position of head leader, and during the hour gave polished demonstrations of their skill. Competition among freshmen for the post of assistant yell leader will culminate today, when final selections will be made by the students.

In addition to messages by President Richard J. Werner and Coach "Tiny" Hall, short introductions were made to members of the student commission by President Grant McAdams. Musical atmosphere was provided by the S. J. C. band, under the direction of Mr. Lorrell McCann, and through group singing.

That evening, a mixer-dance was given in place of the usual first-week reception, and proved to be a highly popular substitute. "Defrosting" of newcomers was taken care of mainly by upperclassmen, who acted as hosts, and by Herbie Bruce's orchestra.

Joyce Emery of Britain Tells Own Story of War

"The morale of the British people is very high, and they are as calm as if there were no war. Everyone is making great sacrifices." Proof enough to skeptical students and citizens that morale reports received from England through the channels of Life, Time, Collier's, and a dozen other contemporary magazines is the unadulterated truth, is this statement by Miss Joyce Emery, an "accented Britisher," recently enrolled at Salinas Junior College, who has been able to avoid a few of war's perils in her flight from the continent to the United States.

Periled by air raids and convoy torpedo attacks, Miss Emery finally arrived in New York harbor aboard the White Star liner, Cameronia. When tossed the remark, "Quite an uneventful trip?" she replied with a statement to the effect that three ships of the convoy were sunk by Nazi raiders during the ocean crossing.

Although a portion of the Emery family was fortunate enough to reach the United States, the father, a copper mine executive, has remained, devoting his time to his occupation and the British Home Guard.

Silk stocking shortages as well as the rationing of other ladies' apparel have been met in the conventional undaunted British manner. Suits require 35 coupons, a dress is worth 20, a pair of shoes is a loss of fifteen and cotton stockings deprive the individual of five or ten.

Comparison of the dress of British and American women shows a decided lean on the part of the British to greater simplicity of dress. In Britain, shirts, long-sleeved blouses, long stockings and low-heeled shoes are very common. One requirement of Clarendon Girls' school, place of Joyce's matriculation, was the wearing of long, black stockings.

Turning from the subject of England to that of this land, Miss Emery told of her preference of the West to the Eastern section, although she has bestowed her individual city praise upon New York City.

Naturally she plans to remain here until continental hostilities cease and until then, a nursing course will keep her occupied.

All proud owners of "horseless carriages" please take heed! Hall Selected as Panther Mentor

MARION "TINY" HALL SUCCEEDS "BUD" WINTER AS PANTHER COACH

Fresh from coaching three record years at Salinas Hi, Coach Marion "Tiny" Hall last week moved into Salinas Junior College to take over the coaching reins for the 1941 grid season. Coach Hall succeeds "Bud" Winter, who has accepted a position on the coaching staff of San Jose State.

During his coaching career at Salinas Hi, Hall turned out championship CCAL teams in light-weight football, basketball, and track in 1938. In 1939 he coached a championship track team, his varsity gridders winding up in second place, after losing the decisive game by one point. During his final year at SUHS Hall again produced first place teams in football, basketball and track. The new football mentor received his education at Hollister high school, University of Oregon and Stanford University. He started his coaching career in Springfield, Oregon, where he spent five years. During his stay there he coached a high school boxing team that remained undefeated for four years.

Dr. Gardner and Mr. Robinson announced recently that the science classes were not filled. There is plenty of room for new students.

Jaysee Students Capture Assailant

Heros on the gridiron, the track, and on Main Street, Salinas Junior College students Frank Freeman and Louis Thurman proved themselves last week, when, upon passing the big silver water tank near Main street, they heard the cry of someone in distress.

No sooner had they located the whereabouts of the outcry, than they saw a man run out from under the tank and start down the street. These local gridders immediately gave chase, and after, as they put it, "What seemed like miles and miles" they cornered and captured the man, holding him until the local police came and took him into custody.

The fans will be looking for some of that speed when these boys start after a touchdown one of these next Friday evenings.

Panthers to Meet Martinez Alumni In Season Opener

The Panther eleven and Coach Hall have been giving their all in hard practice the last few days in preparation for the season opener with the Alhambra Alumni Club of Martinez, a week from tonight at the Monterey High School stadium. This organization which is composed of alumni from all the Contra Costa County schools, usually has a strong team, and promises to give the local gridders a real test.

The following week the home team will play host to "Bud" Winter and his San Jose State Frosh troupe in a benefit game for the local hospital. This game is expected to attract a large crowd, not only because all proceeds go towards the hospital fund, but because the fans are assured a game containing natural rivalry, with former S.J.C. Coach "Bud" Winter's team facing "Tiny" Hall's 1941 S. J. C. squad.

Coach Hall has, as yet, not sorted all his material from over newcomers will find themselves in the important positions when the juggling is over and the final results are posted.

These two games, unlike most season openers, which are usually with some local team and

"TINY" HALL TAKES OVER

As the new school year starts, the Panther eleven finds itself under new management. Coach "Bud" Winter, the Panther mentor for the past four years, has accepted a position as head football and track coach at San Jose State, and the duties of leading this year's grid team into another great season have been placed with Marion "Tiny" Hall, whose record of three championship years at the Salinas High School, qualify him to do just that.

The start of a new season always presents a problem for a coach, for it always takes time to get acquainted with the abilities of the new players, but for a new coach, the problem is doubled, for he must also familiarize himself with the abilities of the returning veterans as well. The turnout for this year has been exceptionally large, with about 45 men reporting. The returning lettermen, while they are not a large number, represent some of the outstanding players from the '40 squad, and we feel sure that such names as Mike Stewart, Bill Patterson, Hank Klaube, Al Brushini, Dick Voris, John Juhl, and Herb Schiro, will be decorating the headlines of this and many other sheets.

Almost as important to Coach Hall are some of the new members, who left records behind them on their respective high school turfs, and now are striving for higher goals in bigger competition. Such names as Di Orio and Lisk, though they may sound new to J. C. grid fans now, will be on everyone's tongue before the season is over, for they represent two good reasons for Coach Hall's many victories at Salinas Hi, as well as two better reasons why the Panther eleven won't be considered "easy meat" in this or any other league this season.

Other new names on the list include Bob Steele and Charles Booth of Santa Cruz, Cliff Sims, Henry Mello, and Henry McMasters of Watsonville, Bud Giles of Pacific Grove, Clarence Vosti of Gonzales and George Andrus and Cecil Houx of King City. A new name in football, but not to Panther sports fans is Frank Freeman, ace broad jumper of the local track squad last year. Frank is new to football, but Coach Hall looks for his speed. :09.9 in the 100, along with that of such other men as Curtis Sykes, :09.7, and two new men, Philip Elizalde, :09.9 and Edward Towns :09.8 to form the nucleus for a fast backfield. When all this material has been sifted and sorted, a first class team should result, but boys, it's going to take a real team to handle the schedule that has been handed to us this year.

The first game with the Alhambra Alumni Club, will see the locals meeting the cream of Contra Costa county. This team will represent the best of the alumni of all Contra Costa schools, and that won't be a pushover any time in the year, to say nothing of the season opener.

The next game, and the first one in the local Lettuce Bowl, shows signs of being a full house, for not only will the proceeds of the game go to the new hospital fund, but the locals will be matched against "Bud" Winter's San Jose State Frosh squad. We are giving you fair warning, Bud, you had better watch out, for it is rumored about the halls that Coach Tiny has a trick up his sleeve, and although the particulars are secret, we have learned through the grapevine that it is something about Frank Freeman doing a running broad jump right over your line into the end zone. You had better practice up on your anti-aircraft tactics.

Mr. Borough announces that as yet, no definite plans have been made for repeating the series of skating parties which were held last year in Monterey and Salinas rollerdromes, and which became a popular means of raising money to increase the existing La Reata fund.

45 prospective gridsters who turned out for practice on the opening day; however, such names as Voris, Juhl, Stewart, Klaube, Patterson, and Brushini from among the returning veterans as well as Di Orio, Lisk, McMasters, and a host of other usually fail to give real conference competition promise to keep the locals on their toes the full 60 minutes, and if all expectations are lived up to, some of the fans may be on their toes also, for a sellout is expected for the San Jose-Hospital Benefit game on the 26th.
